

Get ahead: the essential GP Trainee skills day

Wednesday 30 November 2011
BMA House, London

Are you considering a career in General Practice?

Have you started your GP training, but need information and support about your career options?

Do you need help making sure you are starting your career in good financial health?

The 'Essential Skills Day' will help you to:

- find out more about the many career paths open to you in General Practice
- polish up your CV and prepare for job interviews
- understand the different contracts available
- get to grips with managing your finances as a young GP
- understand the changes taking place within the NHS and how these might affect you in your career

Find the answers you need and make new contacts among colleagues at our informal, friendly conference. With BMA staff on hand to advise you about how we can support you as you begin your career, this event allows you to personalise the programme to meet your needs with a selection of breakout sessions.

Registration fees:

BMA Members    £100 including VAT
Non-Members    £150 including VAT

Still have questions? Please contact BMA Conferences on 020 7383 6137/6923 or by email at confunit@bma.org.uk

BMA

Don't miss out –
book your place now at www.bma.org.uk/conferences